Beachy Head and Lighthouse. Beachy Head is a favourite walk from Eastbourne. It is the southern extremity of the South Downs and more than 500 feet over sea level. At its foot is built the new Lighthouse, erected during the last few years to replace the old structure at Belle Toute. It is circular in form, after the design of the Eddystone Lighthouse, and is built of Cornish Granite. The diameter of the base is 50 feet, and the total height, 140 feet.
